

WORLD EVANGELISM FUND THANK OFFERING

ACTIVITY SHEET

How God uses our gifts through the World Evangelism Fund

Many of the people in Mongolia live in round structures made of tarps and animal skins called yurts. Missionaries

Sunny and Lisa Um built a yurt to use as a church building. Connect the dots to see what a yurt looks like.

Many refugees are leaving Syria and returning home to Armenia, where missionaries help them start new lives. Guide the refugees through the maze below to reach their new homes in Armenia.

Refugees from Myanmar start churches wherever they go, because their faith is important to them. They often start these churches in their own houses. Look at the two houses below. Circle the seven differences you see between them.

Apolli, a pastor from West Africa, volunteered to be a missionary to the nearby country of Togo. His church gave him food, transportation and a backpack of supplies to help him spread the gospel.
